BIO

Esther's early work as the director of shorts and music videos took her all over the world, winning her acclaim and awards from the outset. She moved on to directing prime time drama for both the BBC and Channel 4.

In 2009 she wrote and directed SEPTEMBER funded by the UKFC, which won the BAFTA for outstanding short film as well as ten other international awards.

This recognition brought her work on flagship Channel 4 drama Skins and in 2011 she went on to direct a feature length episode of BBC1's Wallander starring Kenneth Branagh, which attracted over 5 million viewers.

She runs a community cinema project for children in Haiti (HKKP http://nanoplex.cubecinema.com/haiti_kids_kino.php), and continues to construct visuals for Britain's best underground musicians.

Light Years is Esther's debut feature film.
